Banker Honored

PAHOKEE — An engraved silver award has been presented to Harry M. McIntosh, president of the Bank of Pahokee by the saving bonds division of the U. S. Treasury Department for his "long and consistent efforts" in the sale and promotion of Government savings bonds.

Mr. McIntosh has headed local bond activities since March 24, 1942 and expressed appreciation of the lapel pin which carries the theme of the U. S. Treasury Department and the border inscription "U. S. Savings Bonds Volunteer."

The award was tendered in behalf of Victor H. Northcutt, president of the First National Bank of Tampa and volunteer advisory chairman for the state of Florida, by Henry G. Dooley, area deputy for the bond division in south Florida.

Sound Money
"The present administration has not changed one iota in its program to maintain sound money," Dooley stated in making the award. "This savings bonds program is very important (1) in managing the huge Federal debt and (2) in controlling inflation."

"This is because every dollar you invest in a Series E or H savings bond means another dollar that is in the hands of the individual saver for a long period of time instead of in the fluid banking system. Therefore, every dollar that you invest in a bond is a dollar that will reduce the chances for further inflation."

Investors
During the past 12 months, Floridians have invested $890,284 in Series E and H bonds, an increase of 12.16 per cent. In Palm Beach County, for the corresponding period, bond investment totaled $2,667,614 — a 12 months' increase of 9.29 per cent.

In closing, Dooley expressed thanks of the Treasury bond division to the newspapers and banking institutions of this area for their support of the bond program. The program is "all to the good," he added for it gives the people an opportunity to build their future security, "the safest investment on earth," the large volume of purchasing reported above places a substantial financial cushion under the economy of the area and the more than $37 billions now in savings bonds is a powerful device to inflationary pressure, value in federal debt management.

LIBRARY POST STILL VACANT

PAHOKEE — With all except the librarian position left open in the transfer of Miss Dorsey to be filled, Principal Clyde Canipe of Pahokee high school is looking forward to another successful school year.

With eight vacancies two weeks ago, Canipe has been busy interviewing and looking over applications preparatory for the adjourned school board meeting late last week.

At that time, there being a quorum present which had not been the case for the regularly scheduled meeting, teacher's appointments for Pahokee were approved as follows: Roy Evers, fourth grade; Mrs. Evelyn Minich, third grade; Francis Horan, commercial teacher; Thomas Kuback, Jr., English; Eugene W. Sproule, agriculture; Miss Martha Jean Bridges, first grade; and Miss Rita Fandrell, girls physical education.

PRINCE PRESENTS SEVEN TALENT ACTS

PAHOKEE — With seven acts the Prince Theatre Talent Show on Tuesday night was a great success. Sponsored by Don's Food Center and Jack Spencer's Meat Market, the show featured the Jones sisters who took first place with their singing and dancing numbers. Nelly Johnson was second prize winner. Others performing were Judy Howard, La Verne Geiger, Wayne Elliott and the duet winners from Belle Glade Billy Mathis and Bob and Joe Dillow. Malcolm Miller arranged the program.

RADIO AIDES INDISPENSABLE TO FLORIDA HIGHWAY PATROL

Troopers of the Florida Highway Patrol carry out their duties with the faithful cooperation of three women who stand radio watches around the clock working cars and stations in Troop "B2," according to Sgt. E. D. Dugger in charge of the Pahokee station.

The dean of communications operators, Mrs. Juanita Cowart, was not available for a photograph in the office because she is on a four-month's leave of absence. But has one of the longest service records with the FHP in Florida. The night operator, Mrs. Juanita Harlow, is paid by the Pahokee Police Department whose police communication system is integrated with that of the highway patrol although each has its own facilities. This cooperation makes a 24-hour watch possible. Mrs. Harlow has more than five years with the department and a perfect watch standing record.

Mrs. Esther Batchelor is proud of her years with the FHP. She works with the department and now stands relief watches. In discussing her position she explained how effectively on-the-job training is used to prepare women for this interesting career. Operators must have a Federal Communications Commission restricted radio telephone operator permit before they can operate the equipment.

Miss Donna Jo Spencer has been with the FHP for more than two years. As she explained it, the primary purpose of the radio is to keep the dispatcher informed as it is received to the place where it will be used.

Troop E
Troop "E", consisting of stations at Pahokee, Miami, West Palm Beach, Fort Pierce and Fort Myers, signs in each morning and each station every morning at 9 o'clock and then reports up the line to Lakeland. Mrs. Harlow describes it as every much like a roll call.

Sgt. Dugger, in an interview, explained how little the motorist knows about the workings of the FHP. In one summer month Troop "B2" of which Pahokee, Belle Glade and South Bay are a part, assisted 139 stranded motorists, issued 163 written warnings and 22 were given in one month — "wanted" person was picked up, 37 accidents were investigated in which there were 16 injuries, no deaths and property damage amounted to $26,850.00.

Added Duty
Troopers have to take time out from patrolling roads and highways to give safety talks — 22 were given in one month — and they must also take time to interview and test nearly 900 applicants for driver's licenses which were made in one month. Of these 370 failed and 84 were incomplete which means that the number will have to be handled another time.

It is not accidental that troopers are efficient, courteous, capable and clear headed in emergencies. As patrolmen the troopers spend a year's probation before being given the coveted title "trooper." Within the general term of trooper there are the various grades, following military ranking from colonel who is head of all the activities in the state down to the lowest ranking corporal.

Monthly work schedules outline in detail the troopers' duties, locations and assignments. Copies of each trooper's assignments are in the hands of the Headquarters Troop in Tallahassee so that inspectors may assure themselves that every trooper is in his scheduled place. In addition to the monthly work schedules the troopers are rigidly examined for personal appearance and neatness, their clothing kit is inspected and their weapons and gear are checked. All of the ratings a trooper receives are kept in his dossier so that when promotion time comes it is possible to know in detail what kind of man he is and how efficient a trooper he has been.

Much of the efficiency of the patrol depends upon the mechanical condition of the familiar yellow and black car with their siren and red light on top. It is thoroughly checked once a month down to the fah belt and the battery connections. Repairs needed are made under special contract rates to be sure that the public money is not being wasted or mis-spent, said Dugger.

Much of the trooper's time is taken up with court appearances as witnesses against the motorists brought in for trial. Sgt. Dugger pointed out that violators who are not confronted with the evidence may as well not be apprehended.

Col. H. N. Kirkman, formerly of Pahokee, is the director of the FHP with rank of colonel, which rank he holds in the Army of the United States also. Besides his headquarters Troop A, the Colonel supervises troops B, C, D and E which cover the state. He is approximately 130 patrolmen and troopers throughout the state.

Trooper Charles McWilliams, with four years' service, is stationed in Pahokee. Trooper Joseph Bertrand, with three years in the FHP, has the Belle Glade station, and Patrolman Lloyd Clifton is stationed in South Bay, Sgt. Dugger said.

SOUTH BAY — With only one commissioner and the mayor present Tuesday evening, the regular commission meeting was not held in South Bay. City Attorney Claude Jones, Police Chief White and the acting commissioners were present. Absence from the city and illness were reasons other commissioners were unable to attend, according to Mayor Fisher.

Mrs. Esther Batchelor, presently relieving Mrs. Juanita Cowart who is on leave of absence, is shown going over her log-book preparatory to taking over the 6 p.m. to midnight watch at the Pahokee office of the FHP.

BUILDERS' INC. FIRST HOME

PAHOKEE — Construction is expected to begin this week on the first home built under the newly organized Pahokee Builders, Inc. program, Lewis Friend, president of the corporation announced at Lions luncheon Tuesday. The house is to cost about $10,000 and is under option to an undisclosed buyer.

Presented on a joint program with Chester Batchelor, past president of the Everglades Underwriters Association, Friend said that the corporation was in process of acquiring a ten acre tract of land which will be subdivided after streets are built. It is likely that from two to five homes at a time will be built as plans progress, Friend said.

Loan Bases
At the present time VA loans are the basis of building but it is hoped that VA and FHA loans both will be used in financing building on the new site. Friend invited any interested residents to become shareholders in the corporation. In answer to a question from the audience, Friend said that a site for Negro housing was being sought but that plans were a year or so away from fulfillment.

Batchelor, first president of the Everglades Life Underwriters Association outlined the benefits to Underwriters to be derived from their newly formed association. Saying that local, state and national underwriters' groups were able to find a mutual interest in collaborating for the benefit of the assured, Batchelor said.

Lion President Ralph Johnson presided at the meeting during which the club went on record as approving a change in the chamber of commerce by-laws dropping a director, missing two consecutive meetings without valid excuse.

MURPHY TRAINS

AT FT. BENNING

PORT BENNING, GA. — ROTC Cadet Willard W. Murphy, Jr., the son of Mrs. Annette Murphy, Bay 357, Pahokee, Fla., a student at the University of Florida, has reached the half-year mark at the Port Benning 1954 General Military Science Reserve Officers Training Corps Summer Camp.

During the past three weeks of intensified and rigorous training he has received individual instruction in preliminary rifle marksmanship, upon completion of which he will be allowed to fire the record course with the M-1 (Garand) Rifle and have the opportunity to qualify as marksman, sharpshooter, or expert.

Night radio-telephone operator Mrs. Juanita Harlow, left, logs out after the midnight to 8 a.m. duty in the FHP office at Pahokee to Miss Donna Jo Spencer who is assuming the 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. communications watch.

$400 Fine In South Bay Court

SOUTH BAY — Found guilty on three counts, Simmons "Ray" Wilkinson was fined $400 in South Bay Police Court Tuesday.

Mayor S. J. Fisher, sitting as municipal judge, heard Wilkinson charged with and found him guilty of driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, assaulting an officer and resisting arrest. Officer J. W. Bay, Judge Fisher fined Wilkinson $150 for driving while intoxicated, $100 for reckless driving and $150 for the last two counts against him. Wilkinson had a set-to with South Bay Patrolman Frank Cline, Jr. late in April.

It is anticipated that Wilkinson will appeal the verdict to Circuit Court within the 30 day period allowed him. In the case of Joe Sims of Pahokee who was present at the time of the altercation upon which the charges against Wilkinson were based, Judge Fisher found him not guilty of assaulting an officer as charged. Several from Belle Glade will attend the Vocational Teachers' Conference at Daytona Beach from July 19 through the 24th. Sam Lovell, agricultural instructor at Belle Glade school, will be moderator on a panel discussion on "Providing More Effective Instruction Through Help of an Advisory Committee or Board."

FUGETT

No word was available at press time about funeral date, time and place for Dave Fugett who died in England after surgery. Dave was with the 15th Casual Hospital in England for a year and a half.

WEDNESDAY SALE SHOWS DROP

BELLE GLADE — Wednesday's sale at Glades Livestock Market brought the total head of cattle sold during the week up to 1032 and the dollar value to $60,388.75. The mid-week sale fell off from last week's total of 290 to 77.

Monday's sale report follows:

Summer Harvest

MRS. JOHN A. DULANY
Agricultural operations are active in spite of "summertime" in the Glades.

Only a few years ago the summer months on Lake Okeechobee were considered as "dead as a doornail" as far as farming was concerned. Today the activities are varied and numerous.

Rice growers are now engaged in the harvest of their summer crops. Some farmers and cattlemen are harvesting summer feed corn and grain sorghum crops. Celery growers are planting and cultivating seed beds in preparation for transplanting late in August or September. Many vegetable growers are busy tractoring down the giant weeds on their rich muck fields prior to planting about the first of August. Some start planting operations by Sept. 1.

Ramie
Ramie growers, Newport Industries, Inc. of Canal Point, the world's largest fiber grower, started Monday on the harvest of their second cuttings of ramie plantings for the summer; also the Palm Beach Ramie, Inc. of Belle Glade have their ramie harvest underway.

Rice
Harvest of between 700 and 1,000 acres of summer rice grown in the Belle Glade area started Saturday. Henry Spellman, III, Allen Craig, John Turner, and Earl Barber, all members of the Glades Rice Growers Cooperative, are harvesting rice at present. Fritz Stein, also a member of the cooperative, has a younger crop of rice that will be mature for coming a little later in the summer. Spellman and Craig are growing the Texas Zenith (short grain) variety of rice and the others have the Louisiana (long grain) variety. Stein is reported to have planted 160 barrels of rice seed he grew last fall.

Paul LaChance, manager of the cooperative, reports that the present rice crops are exceptionally beautiful and free from blight. If the weather continues favorable, growers expect to produce one of the finest crops of rice possible to grow in the Glades. This season's crops are expected to have a strong bearing upon the future of rice as a commercial food crop in the Glades.

Prospects Favorable
Mr. LaChance said that the prospects are very favorable for good yields of rice, however, at present sufficient quantities have not been harvested to determine the average yield. The best yield in the Glades in the past is said to have been around 13 barrels per acre. A barrel weighs 2,425 pounds of rice. Some have anticipated yields of 20 barrels or more per acre from the muck soil, in favorable conditions.

The harvested rice is being dried at the Farmers' Drier in Belle Glade and will be shipped for milling to Louisiana or possibly to South Carolina.

More than 1500 acres of grain sorghum are being combined in the county. The grain drier for use in mixed feed for fattening steers, according to H. L. Speer, assistant county agent, is now in operation. The grain will be harvested this summer and used in the same way, he said. The majority of these are grown in the Glades.

Hegari Grain
A. Duda & Sons Cooperative Association of Belle Glade area is now in the process of combining sorghum which they planted as a cover crop following their spring cereal harvest. According to Mr. Speer, the average yield or hegar is estimated at 50 bushels per acre. The Duda firm is buying grain at the Farmers' Drier and trucking it to their large ranch operations in the Ovada area.

Some of the Glades cattlemen are in the process of making hay from the lush summer growth of grasses. Haying, making ensilage and producing snap corn for finishing and winter supplemental feeding of cattle is now a common but comparatively recent practice in the Glades. Many of the Big Joe and other hybrid corn crops are either gathered now or soon will be. Much of the corn is dried and made into snap corn (snap corn consists of the ground cob, husk and grain) and is used for creep and winter feeding.

CREDIT where DUE: It looks like Cecil Webb's road building plan has hit pay dirt. Last week when Vice President Nixon read President Eisenhower's proposed road program to the Governor's Conference at Bolton Landing, N.Y., it sounded familiar. After all, Webb for point it contained the important aspects of the plan presented to President Eisenhower in the White House. It was by Florida's road chairman, when Webb talked to the President he based his plea on the need for "safer" highways, a network of high speed super military highways which would be needed in time of war, and the condition of our national network of roads, and the need for a long range public employment program. Webb suggested $30 billion over a period of six years, and President Eisenhower has suggested $20 billion over a period of 10 years. It looks now as though there will be a special called meeting of all governors in Washington some time in the fall to talk about it—and to see how the program can be put into force. Maybe at that time, Florida's Governor Webb might get some of the credit for his ideas.

FLORIDIAN HONORED: One of Florida's top business men, Lester Foley, Jacksonville lumberman, was sworn in here last Friday as Director of the American Republic Mission of the Foreign Operations Administration. Mr. Foley, an ex-Republican, will head the mission, consisting of a group of technical advisors to implement the aid program to the Dominican Republic. His wife, Edith, came to Washington with him to witness the ceremony.

GRANDPA: The Florida "Pecoon" (Congressman Bob Sikes) is a grand-pappy again. This time it's a boy—born to his daughter, Bobby. She's now Mrs. Ed Wickde, of Pensacola—wife of the State's Attorney for Florida northern district. The Wickdes have two other children, both little girls. The Congressman is acting like any other normal grandfather under the same circumstances.

WILL GEORGE RUN?: A number of people have asked me if we think Senator Smathers will run again. The rumor keeps going around Florida that he's tired of his job and would like to do some other kind of work for a change. First rumor of the rumor has been during the Democratic National Convention. They have been popping up from time to time since. On one of the radio programs recently we asked him point blank if he planned to run again and he said "Yes." Now, I think the straw has broken the camel's back. The rumor has broken out again. Apparently, someone overheard the Senator say he wanted to give up his job. That's like a mail-man on a hot day with some heat, telling his next door neighbor that he hates his work and would like a desk job in an air conditioned office. And 10 years later he is still carrying the mail. This time the rumor is wondering whether or not "the job is really worth it" is a familiar sound at this time of year around Washington. The Congress draws to a close. Two years ago Senator Lyndon Johnson is supposed to have said the same thing and the rumors were flying around him. Today, you will notice that he has six top aides working with him, and two of them are press agents. Now, about Senator Smathers you're kicking around—say your brother-in-law has a chance to use it—believe me!

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER
By Sen. George Smathers

As a member of the Senate Finance Committee which is engaged in re-writing the Social Security Law, I have become convinced that a major need is a cost-of-living increase in benefits to the needy individuals covered by the Old Age and Survivors Insurance program. The committee has agreed that a $6 monthly increase is warranted. This may seem a small amount, but as much as the traffic would bear at this time.

I have joined this week in sponsoring an amendment to guarantee that the pensioners to whom this slight raise is intended actually will draw it. We propose that the additional six dollars will not affect the amounts already being paid these people by the state under the old plan, but will be added to the aged, blind, and disabled.

What has happened in two previous occasions is the operation of the law actually has "shortchanged" these needy persons. In 1950, the Congress refused to increase the minimum benefit. But in many states there was a fixed amount being paid. Therefore, the increase reduced the welfare payment. The pensioners continued to draw the same amount. This also occurred in 1952.

This is not right, and the law must be very clear on the subject. Our older citizens are hard enough time getting along with what this program provides them, without subjecting them to such chicanery. It is our purpose to vote this raise—and to do everything in our power to see that they are permitted to keep it.

DOCTORS, LAWYERS: Much debate pro and con has been heard with regard to inclusion of the medical profession under the OASI program. The committee has voted to permit professional men, now excluded, to elect to come under the program under a limited two year period. The committee disagreed with them when they tried to compel farmers to come under the program, but voted to treat farm operators as professional individuals.

Director John L. Farley, of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, has notified the Florida congressional delegation that $70,000 is being allocated to Red Tide Research in the Gulf of Mexico from appropriations for 1955. (That is, the fiscal year 1955 which begins July 1, 1954, and ends June 30, 1955.)

Perhaps of greater interest, is the personal assurance Director Farley gave Congressman Courtney Campbell that an amply-financed Red Tide program will be instituted under authority of the recent Fisheries Act. This new law provides a $3 million fund for aiding the domestic fishing industry, from the duties collected on fish products.

Courtney has relayed to the rest of the delegation also that Director Farley expects to visit the Florida west coast, areas later this fall personally to inspect progress in the fight against the solution to the Red Tide problem. We in the delegation have worked so closely together on this problem are convinced that with the positive action taken in the Congress this year, businesslike, realistic effort will result to the relief of our coastal areas as was done in the west.

NEWSNOTES

J. R. Taylor, president, and Alma H. Taylor, sec-treas, have submitted a joint statement by Chapter of the National Association of the Grand Association of Veterans of the Railroad Employees, of ap- pointment for my work on editing the "double penny" section of the Railroad Retirement Act. I'm grateful for the interest and cooperation of the general manager of the Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce, and Mario Trejo, manager of the Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce, expressing appreciation for variety and best puppy was Enoch v. Benardine. The puppy was a prizefighter for the welter weight class instead of an innocent pup. This one was from Jack Ench and I must give you credit, or at least benefit of doubt, that you would have been winner if you had not got all "hot" up and shoved off for your vacation.

You may have noticed that we reptiles have gotten some attention in the public press, of course you may not think it news when a boa constrictor gets loose but when a $300 rat is offered for its return that is something. At least pal Joey squirmed free of his tormentors up north, and down here where we live a menace to the likes—or dislikes—of me.

Please don't, repeat don't, bring me back one of those awful pine needle baskets because I think I'll be comfortable in my hammock. I don't want it, nor my place in it, nor my heart. I just don't do it for that kind of thing. Your season and heavy rain and taste for straw are on a par, please remember that, when picking up souvenirs.

You undoubtedly missed the reference to hooded cobras in the Tampa Tribune, I didn't. It showed the cobra playing the game of hide and seek with the cobra was shown in unfavorable light of being a red. Why, oh why, must we always be impugned and held up to malicious ridicule—don't answer that Schatz!

With every good wish that you lead a dog life, I am most reptiliously yours,

SAME PLACE, N.C.

July 18, 1954

Dear Maybelline:
Well, like I always say, it shouldn't happen to people! Here I am in the heart of the TVA system, which furnishes 20 billion kilowatt hours of power to more than six million people and dozens of industries, and I'm writing this letter by candlelight.

The bosses are reading by flashlight, and I'm at work by light of a guttering candle. All I need is a log kennel.

I'm pawing through the TVA's literature, I found that all the lights we are using up here, the kitchen appliances, the water heater, the electric fan (it's just as hot as Florida in the day-time), run on electricity from TVA.

And so it happened we all were resting comfortably this morning when a big rain and windstorm hit us.

There was a lot of unleashed celestial power in the form of lightning around here.

The storm reached a great climax—and off went the refrigerator, the electric clock, the radio, and all the lights.

This evening, having no stove power, we went to the village a half mile down the road to eat. The lights were all off there, too, and dinner was warmed-over luncheon, with only the stove ovens still hot.

The boys minded and we were very festive with our leftovers by candlelight.

By cutting back the power use, TVA's Fontana Dam, they got the lights in the village on by 9:30.

On the hill, several households of us still are in the dark. The TVA men hope to get the power on again by tomorrow.

It was that last burst of storm that knocked a big tree down over a transformer and power line. Which again goes to show that TVA, like many man-made and government-made things, is not foolproof.

For all that, the Master Controls still are operated by that one Big Switch.

So put that in your coals and squeeze it, Maybelline, from one "lower species" to another.

MY EXPERIENCES AT METHODIST YOUTH CAMP

By Terry Tucker, Age 12

The first days I spent at the Methodist Youth Camp have been the most wonderful experience of my life with God and my fellow campers. The camp is located about three miles out of Leesburg, Florida, on beautiful Lake Griffin.

Our day started much too early when a photograph record of a bugle blared over a loud speaker at the tune of "Can't Get 'em Up." The song was very appropriate because no one could get 'em up. As soon as we were dressed, though, we were to walk down to the lake front for morning devotion.

A bell was sounded for breakfast and the 200 hungry campers did justice to "Ma" Bailey's well planned and tasty meals.

After breakfast came cabin clean-up. Everything was stuffed into suitcases of shoved under the bed out of sight. Have you ever tried to make the upper berth of a bunk bed? You have to stand on the lower berth and stick all the blankets in between the mattress. I was one of the unlucky ones who got one of the older bunks. All the stuffings of the mattress has been worked down to the ends so that it took one a while to get used to having your feet and head higher than your middle, but when bedtime came we were so tired from the day's activities that we could have slept on a rock and never would have known that we were sleeping on the finest mattress.

Following cabin clean-up, came our morning classes. The first was "Exploring the Bible." We learned about the books of the Bible. I also took the "Methodist Youth Fellowship" course.

As soon as classes were over, we would run to our cabins and don our swimsuits and take a dip in the lake. If you weren't fully awake by then you certainly were when you got out!

After our swim we made a mad dash to our cabins and dressed just in time for the general meeting. At this meeting we would have a brief message and then sing a few favorite hymns. By this time we were all so hungry again that the dinner bell was gratefully received.

Next came the popular rest hour. We all climbed into our bunks and didn't know a thing until the bugle sounded for next class which was crafts. There were fourteen different crafts to choose from. I made a wooden jewelry box.

The bugle meant free time when you could do most anything. After a hearty supper and a prayer group, we heard a wonderful sermon.

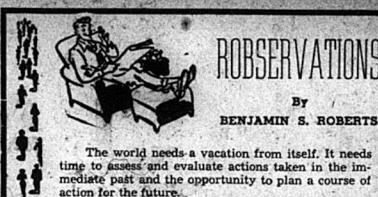

The last night we were in camp we had what we called a "sharing hour" when we shared with the others what had meant the most to us. After chapel we went to the recreation hall for games and dancing. The snack bar was open during this time. After recreation, we went to our cabins, got ready for bed, and had a prayer group. A short story was told, followed by telling what you had learned and ended in sentence prayer. Taps were played at 10:30 and the Lord's Prayer was played over the loud speaker.

We all had our turn at KP. Each cabin had to set the table for 200 and dry all the silverware after it was washed.

We saw all very interesting in a young man from Malaysia, Wai Yun Sing, who wants to be a doctor to help his people. We heard that he was going to college so he may be a doctor. Last night we raised over $250 for this fund.

There are lots of other interesting things besides classes at camp. There is a room in the chapel called the "prayer room" with chairs for you and for God. Out on Lake Griffin there is a large blue cross which lights up every night. Some where across the lake there must be an airport for we can see a light guiding planes to a safe landing. It reminds me of Christ guiding us to a safer landing, also. I have never seen anything so beautiful as the lake with the cross shining in the night with a full moon and twinkling stars. There is also a place to go if you want to pray. There is a path there called "Path of Silence." As soon as you start up the path you are not to say one word. The path is narrow and winding and reminds me of the narrow winding paths we are trying to follow after Jesus. The chapel is out in the open with few benches and a cross made out of logs. It's so peaceful and cool there one can always feel the presence of God as He leads you along the narrow way of life.

I loved the camp and certainly plan on going next year. I hope this story will send many more young people to their church camps next year so that they may accept Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour.

The world needs a vacation from itself. It needs time to assess and evaluate actions taken in the immediate past and the opportunity to plan a course of action for the future.

Individuals and businesses take time out from household chores and office responsibilities to get away from it all and view in retrospect where they have been and where they want to go.

There is enormous power in contemplation of things just past and things just around the corner. Routines are likely to stifle imagination and creative initiative because their performance is more important than their end product. Time out for an audit of ourselves gives opportunity to reassess goals and effect, profit and loss, and trial and error.

The world does not take a vacation. Nations as aggregations of peoples sleep not, nor do they slumber, but on and on relentlessly they move.

Although we as a nation believe in the vacation, our enemies find it bourgeois weakness and will not admit to any time out for rest and reflection. Therefore, international events press on without curfew or without let and there is no opportunity for the world to evaluate where it is headed.

Even though there has been no vacation period for the United States in foreign relations, there has been some reflection upon our immediate future. One indication of that is evident in the Senate suggestion that aid to France and Italy after December be contingent upon their ratifying the European Defense Organization, treaty or some equivalent substitute. We threw these provisions out in the last analysis, but the trend of finding is established.

Certainly John Foster Dulles would advocate a vacation for the world from its incessant pressures. He hasn't slept in his own bed for months. With his arrival in Paris rather than in Geneva he let the world know that we would not be party to arms of the Belle Glade unit.

thousands of dollars worth of PROTECTION and PRIVACY
Where can you find a bigger bargain than a year's rental of a safe deposit box for only $5.00? Why, the privacy alone is worth the money! And when you consider the protection you get against loss of your valuables by fire or theft, it seems like a downright steal! So why not rent a box today?

Weddings and Engagements

Miss Mary Elizabeth Martin
MARTIN - ARCENEAUX

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Martin of Stillwater, Okla., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Martin of Washington, D.C., to George Arceneaux, jr., also of Washington, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. George Arceneaux of Pahocee. The wedding will take place August 17 in the First Baptist Church in Stillwater.

Miss Martin received a BA degree in personnel management and a MS degree in business education from Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College in Stillwater. She was president of Mortar Board's, a Phi Kappa Phi and was listed in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. She is now employed by Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma in Washington.

Mr. Arceneaux received his BS degree in journalism from Louisiana State University, where he was a member of Theta Xi, social fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, and Samuraj, interfraternity organization. Following graduation from LSU, he worked as news editor and program director of radio station KCLL, Houma, La., and as a staff writer for the Lafayette Daily Advertiser and for the New Orleans Times-Picayune. He served in the Military Intelligence Division of the Army. He is presently employed in Washington as legislative assistant for Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana. He is attending American University Law School where he is a member of Delta Theta Phi, legal fraternity.

7.5% designed in 1951

America's 1950 air power will be based on aircraft designs created years earlier. An indication of the lead-time required in the creation of air power is given by the fact that, last year, over 50 per cent of the aircraft built by a major U.S. manufacturer were based on designs originated in 1945 and 1946.

JUNIOR OLYMPIC SWIM MEET PLANS

The Glades Swimming Meet for the Junior Olympics sponsored by the Miami Daily News, open to all boys and girls of 16 years and younger and will be conducted at the Pahokee Municipal Swimming Pool tomorrow at 9 a.m., according to Coach Leland Keene and Coach William Howard, directors.

The four divisions are boys and girls of ten years and under; juniors, 11 and 12 years; intermediates, 13 and 14 years; seniors, 15 and 16 years.

Entry blanks can be secured at the swimming pool from Coaches Keene and Howard. Entries can be made up to 9 a.m. Saturday.

Winners of the Glades meet will be eligible to enter the Palm Beach County meet to be held at Lake Worth Casino pool on July 23. This will be followed by the Southwestern district meet also to be held at Lake Worth. The state meet which will conclude the series will be held in Miami August 19-21.

All boys and girls are welcome to enter the Glades meet. There is no entry fee.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By
Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

"Thank you," says the newboy, the grocer, the butcher, the bank teller and the millions of people who live and work together and serve each other. "Thank you," is just a small courtesy, but it is a courtesy that is a society and culture aware of give and take and essentially happy in everyday relationships.

"There are scores of courteous things which we can say and do to make people know that we appreciate them and what they do for us. Courtesy breaks down the barriers between people who are strangers to one another. It makes friends of those who otherwise might be enemies. The small niceties in life keep people happy and smiling."

Happy people enjoy living and those who enjoy living make a nation strong. Unhappy people weaken a nation. They become suspicious of their fellowmen. Courtesy is indicative of one's respect for his fellowman as well as being an act of politeness. In America we take for granted the respect and the courtesy of those with whom we work and live.

In those nations where dictators have taken over, there is little time or thought given to politeness and the niceties of living. Grimaces wipe out courtesy. Hope becomes submerged in the routine of avoiding suspicion. Fear dominates the lives of the citizens. Men fear their own children. In a society where men are encouraged to inform on one another and the state police is omnipresent, suspicion replaces courtesy, respect and love of fellowman.

Recently there has been much criticism of America's loss of courtesy. School teachers say many children do not know the meaning of the word. Adults are not setting the example of courteous behavior. Each individual is absorbed by self-interest and the desire to gain his own ends at the expense of the well-being and happiness of others.

The "Good Mornings" and the "Thank You's" do not form the foundation of our American freedom but they are the mortar in the framework of our Bill of Rights. They help hold us together as a happy people and as a strong nation. It would be well to remember that the Golden Rule is a clear statement of courtesy as taught by Christ. We all accept the Golden Rule in principle but how imperfectly we practice it!

THINGS TO TALK ABOUT

BROKEN BONES

A fracture is a break in the continuity of a bone. The skin may or may not be broken. In the more severe types, the bone may protrude through the skin. Fractures may be complete, broken entirely through, or incomplete in which the bone is merely cracked or broken partially through. This latter group includes greenstick fractures more often seen in children. They are called greenstick because just as a green piece of wood will bend before it breaks, so the bones of children will bend and crack but will not always break through.

Symptoms indicating a fracture include swelling, discoloration, blisters on the skin, pain and unusual or flexible motion in areas where joints are not present. While there is usually inability to bear weight and move the extremity, or motion is limited and painful, it should be remembered that some of the most serious fractures often are present when weight bearing and motion are possible, although usually painful.

There are variations in the treatment of fractures and variations too in the length of time for healing to be effected. Healing depends upon the extent of injury to the blood supply. When the soft tissue and surrounding areas have not healed, normal circulation cannot be restored to the fracture. This causes delay in healing not only of the bone but of the soft tissues, muscles and tendons that furnish motion to the injured extremity.

Healing takes place by the bringing of the break with new bone derived from the rough fracture ends and the covering of the bone. The bridge is usually laid down in a blood clot or callus found at the fracture site. This process is called callus formation. To encourage callus formation, the fracture must be reduced to its normal position and the covering of the bone. The bridge is usually laid down in a blood clot or callus found at the fracture site. This process is called callus formation. To encourage callus formation, the fracture must be reduced to its normal position and the covering of the bone.

In the physician's management of fractures, X-rays are indispensable. He may employ X-ray in his diagnosis and as he begins to follow its progress with the method.
